

SCANTY DRAPERIES, FLOWING ROBES, SKINS OF ANIMALS COMING INTO STYLE FOR WOMEN

Will It Come to This?

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 8.—Women adorned in the flowing robes of classic Greece.

Feminine garb from the skins of animals.

These are two of future dress possibilities in the United States.

Women are unconsciously going back to a time in antiquity when scanty costumes were the extreme of popularity.

The gradual increase in the cut of low necks in evening gowns; absence of sleeves, bare shoulders, discarded
